WE NOMINATE

Edward Curtis Taylor, one of the distinguished chemists of his time, who is effectively demonstrating that the tortuous trail to new knowledge is being blazed by the tireless, long-working man of science struggling in the quiet of the laboratory without relying in any way upon the services of interpreters, or "ballyhoo artists." Twice within the past year this 43-year-old native of Massachusetts has landed in the headlines: recently, with his success in synthesizing the active principle of marijuana, and, some months back, for his role in helping develop anti-malarial drugs for the American forces in Vietnam.

The marijuana synthesis, an exhausting and long-haul group effort directed by Taylor, here in Frick Chemical Laboratory, was featured in journals around the world in that it makes possible a whole new class of drugs with great potential to mankind. The feat, performed with a simple one-step reaction modeled after the way the chemical may be formed in nature, establishes a base for research on a drug that has profound effects, mental and physical, on man. As Taylor notes, "chemists should now find it easy to modify the compound in the hope of preserving desirable effects and eliminating undesirable ones."

Taylor's "enlistment" in the on-going battle against the crucial medical problem of drug-resistant malaria was one of the rare instances in which research at Princeton originated with a proposal from outside the University. Where nearly all Princeton-based research projects originate with an individual faculty member, following his own interests and considering a project's potential for the training of scientists, Taylor in this instance was approached by the Army Medical Research and Development Command because of his achievements and stature in the field of pteridine chemistry, an area in which he has published more than anyone else in the United States.

Pteridines, natural products found in such places as the wings of butterflies, the eyes of flies and the skin of fish, are one of the several types of compounds found to have promise against malaria during the Army's intensive testing program that involves screening some 500 compounds a week. Part of Taylor's work in this dramatic undertaking is to synthesize new pteridine compounds for testing. In basic terms, as one observer has pointed out, if this search results in an explanation of why one molecular structure is effective against the disease while another very much like it isn't, it should be possible to design a drug to prevent or control malaria.

The third eminent scientist to hold the University's Hepburn Professorship of Organic Chemistry, whose fundamental research has great potential significance in the field of cancer, the youthful-looking Taylor is an alumnus of Hamilton College and earned his advanced degrees at Cornell. He is widely sought as a lecturer by both American and foreign institutions and finds time to serve as a consultant to the National Cancer Institute and the Air Force Office of Scientific Research as well as to Procter & Gamble, the United States Rubber Company and Smith, Kline & French Laboratories. It was with the assistance of the last-named that he and his associates reached the "marijuana goal."

For giving organic chemists a wealth of new synthetic methods and even a "philosophy of synthesis," for his explorations on the far frontiers of chemistry; for using his wide-ranging researches as stimuli in the teaching of young scientists; he is our nominee as

MUSIC, EVERYWHERE

(Are You Involved?) "Total involvement, that's the thing!" said the big man enthusiastically, "total involvement in music."

Three dozen youngsters — they come and go, depending on who's away at camp — have been totally involved these past weeks in the new music program financed by Title I money given to the Township School system last spring.

The big enthusiastic man is Charles Higgins, music teacher at Valley Road, with a "oney-sweet" voice that can sound like a counter-tenor or a bar, and a snowballing way with kids and music that keeps everybody totally involved because he hasn't a minute to get un-involved.

"Music opportunity for the average person — that's my idea," Mr. Higgins smiles. "We've got an autoharp for every boy and girl. You know, you can learn an autoharp in half an hour — automatic plugging of the strings, is what it is — and then you accompany yourself or your classmates."

My Rural "EVERYBODY does EVERYTHING," he continues, and this is most certainly the case. A typical three-hour morning session at Community Park is rather like a breathless three-ring circus. Now and again, a child will quietly pick up his violin or trumpet case and ease off downstair for an instrumental lesson with Fred Zanone, another Township teacher, but everybody is too busy to know or care that he has left.

One purpose of the project is to acquaint children with instruments who haven't had the experience before. An eight-year-old (under age, by the program's specifications, but eager to be admitted) has tried cello, violin and trumpet, wondering which one will

All the boys and girls learn the "Sight and Sound" method of solfège. You make "do" with a fist "re," "mi," "fa" and the rest of the scale with other hand gestures, and by the time you've worked at it a little, you can do the scale as fast with your one hand and sign language as you could rip it off on the piano.

Back to School Next Week

TOWN TOPICS' annual Back to School issue will be published next Thursday, August 23, complete with stories, feature articles and pictures on many aspects of educational activities in Princeton. Advertisers who wish to make last-minute space reservations for the pre-school issue should do so immediately.

"Now, we're going to sing that song we did before," Mr. Higgins announces, and the class, seated at desks in a shallow semi-circle, sings the song, solfège or "do-re-mi" style, making all the appropriate hand gestures as though this were a class of deaf-mutes.

Each child, at some time or other, stands in front and leads, just the way Mr. Higgins does. A slim arm emerges from a white tee-shirt to finger the way, and the class follows.

Beat the Beat, "Rhythm!" Mr. Higgins explodes, and they're off on a rhythm exercise. This is great. You open your book to the rhythm page. You march in place by keeping basic time with both feet, then you voice out the rhythm pattern: "tee-tee-tee-tee-TAIL-tee!"

In another version, you keep basic time with one foot. With clapping hands, you beat a whole note, then half-notes, quarters, eighths up to a breathless pattern of sixteenth and quickly back to that whole note again — and there's not a single spatter left over!

Mr. Higgins laughs with delight. He divides the group "You do whole, you do halves, you do eighths," and he changes each assignment quickly with a pointed finger. Well, a few hands miss the clap, but mostly it works out. They can even clap dotted eighths, clear and sharp.

Now we sing. Much of the repertoire is from "The Sound of Music" including the title song, and "The Lonely Goatherd." As they sing, Mr. Higgins will pick out this shy blonde girl with the long, yellow wavy hair to sing a phrase, that sturdy little boy with the sun-kissed arm to sing another phrase, that earnest young lady with the big, black serious eyes to sing another phrase. No embarrassment about singing alone, although one younger boy does sing a bit.

Who's Bernstein? Conducting? Sure! They've all learned the basic conducting beats. Watch, and Mr. Higgins call one this one, that one, another one, to come before the others and conduct. "No! You have to start with an UP beat remember?" always with a smile, and "You did that very nicely," when the conductor takes his seat.

The conducting is shaky, not quite so sure as the rhythm. Everybody is used to tapping his foot to a beat, but moving your arms in that different way.

"Beautiful Dreamer," done in a four-part chorus, comes out thin and sweet. The altos cluster around the piano for an assist from John Barry, Mr. Higgins' helper. The rest carry it alone. "Beautiful dreamer, wake unto meee..." Then, each with his auto-harp to accompany, the group sings "Cludy." "Who wants to be pointer?" Hands! A small musician, only an inch taller than the pointer he carries, marches to the blackboard and points out the chord letters so that all those autographists will know what button to press and when to press it.

"I wish I was an apple, hanging on a tree: every time my Cludy passed, she'd take a bite of me."

The Quiet Hour, Music appreciation brings George Frederick Handel. The little tractors under the tree-shirt quiet down the sneakers relax on the floor and the Baroque elegance of the "Hannumous blacksmith" cools the warm summer morning air. Then, a chorus from "Israel in Egypt" and the rolling thunder of the "Hallelujah!" It's a record, with spoken commentary, and it has a quiet, patient audience.

Hill way through each morning, everybody breaks to throw baskets out-doors on the playground. They're like little calopnes, letting off steam, and in a few minutes they're back at those auto-harps, making music all over again.

The program has been made available to any Borough or Township child who comes along. The tempo is fast, the tunes lively and the beat strictly E.P.

WHETHER THE FUND?
Unanswered Questions. Purchase of the old Quarry Street School for use as a nursing home raises a question: "What about the United Fund?" And another: "What about the Engineering Building on Green Street?" And a third: "What do neighbors of Quarry Street think of the nursing home idea?"

After a survey last spring, the United Fund's Special Panel on Buildings proposed that the Quarry Street School become a community center, housing several Fund agencies, a teen lounge, offices for the Recreation Board and so on.

Today, Fund officials are shuffling off the old school, not out of a taste of sour grapes, but because in the words of William Coley, executive director of the Fund, "We felt it just wasn't adaptable to the uses of our agencies."

The Fund's Executive Committee came to this decision about a month ago, before last week's auction of the school building. Where would the Fund get the money to bid on the school? To remodel it? Federal funds seemed to be possible, but there were too many strings, according to Mr. Coley. And the Fund didn't want to be rushed into buying.

"Our Executive Committee will continue to explore, and perhaps in a year or two . . . Mr. Coley suggests.

Space? Short. He would like to consolidate kindred Fund agencies into one building — Family Service, Child Guidance, Homemaker Service — to facilitate what he calls "streamlined case work." Fund agencies are scattered around town and most of them are shy on space. The Fund's central administrative office in the Engineering Building is cramped for room, too.

The most pathetic victim of space shortage is the Leigh Avenue Nursery School. The school has a chance to acquire property next door but Mr. Coley says the price is too high. "Otherwise," he adds, "I think the Nursery School should move its children out of that part of town." Many Fund people thought the Quarry Street School and its playground would have been ideal for the Nursery School.

Given a choice, Fund executives and officers would probably prefer to build their own building "somewhere," a place where clients could come and go in privacy and comfort and agencies could operate with efficiency.

"As a stop-gap," Mr. Coley suggests, "we have talked among ourselves about the Engineering Building. We could house two or three entire agencies there and have a fine meeting room besides. As it is now, we have no place to meet."

No. But when the United Fund goes to Borough Hall with its proposal, it will encounter opposition. Mayor Henry S. Patterson has said before and said again this week that he wants to see the Engineering Building used "for civic purposes," and Fund office space does not necessarily meet that definition. The Borough will move its engineering functions out of the building when the new Borough Hall is finished next year.

The Junior Museum has asked us for space in the Engineering Building," the mayor said. "They fill the civic purpose definition, and it would be a fine place for them because it's near the new library. They propose using part of the second story for semi-permanent displays and one office on the ground floor for lectures. That room would be available the rest of the time for use by another group."

"The mayor thinks the building could also be used as a teen lounge — he has said before that more teen-agers would go to the Engineering Building than to the old

But while the building for Fund office space, and the mayor emphasizes that the means administrative office space, not rooms where clients go for interviews and treatment, need not meet with Borough approval. The mayor points to the wide geographical spread of the Fund and says he questions whether it is right to allow Fund agencies, used by residents of many other communities, to use a building that belongs to the people of Princeton.

Neighbors of the school building on Quarry Street don't seem to mind the conversion into a nursing home. The Borough proposal will go over the Borough Zoning Board next Thursday, and no letters or petitions of complaint have been received so far according to Thomas Crawley, Borough engineer.

$100,000 HOME DESTROYED
In Early Morning Fire, A House in the Brookstone area general alarm fire which broke out Tuesday morning on Westmore Drive in the Brookstone section of Princeton at the Township destroyed the $100,000 home of Mr. and Mrs. James Norris.

Mr. Norris, a building contractor who had just completed the furnishing his new home, had occupied it with his family about two weeks ago. He discovered the fire at 2 a.m. when

As he opened the door to the house from the garage, flames burst out. Thirty minutes passed, he reported before he could locate a telephone to report the fire. which has not yet been determined.

APT. FOR RENT?
Zodiacs Chaser Asked, Sandeen Construction Company would like very much to build some apartments in the Township. They went straight to the heart of the matter Monday night and handed to Township Committee a zoning ordinance amendment, already drafted and ready to ride.

The amendment, presented for Sandeen by attorney Hugh Wise Jr., would amend zoning laws to allow multiple housing in zones under strict controls of density, square footage and the like.

"We believe such an amendment would be a benefit to the community," Mr. Wise told Committee. Sandeen sponsored the extensive multiple-housing survey made by Herbert Smith and Company in Trenton, and presented to the Planning Board early this summer.

The Planning Board has taken no action so far on the Smith report.

The company has an option on land in the Mt. Lucas Road-Harrison Street North section of the Township, and would like to build there.

Mayor Carl C. Schafer hinted that Sandeen was, perhaps, bypassing the Planning Board by coming directly to Committee? Mr. Wise said no. "We believe it is proper that Committee, as the governing body, be the first to see an ordinance amendment which it would have to pass upon."

Mr. Wise added that he hoped Committee would amend the existing ordinance so that his client wouldn't have to wait until the whole new zoning ordinance was finally passed.

New Township Hall? As it does each year, Committee passed a tentative capital budget for 1967 at the request of the state's Division of Local

IT'S NEW To Us

ANTIQUEST CAPTAINS?

Or Interior Decorators? You can find anything you need from a Moroccan caftan to a French mandarine gown in a Victorian high-chair at Van Lieu's, on Main Street in Princeton. In fact, we'd like to challenge you to a game of "what did you find?" after you return from your first visit.

Van Lieu's is essentially an antique and interior decorating establishment. Mrs. Van Lieu will decorate in any style you have at hand, preferring a mixture of contemporary and antique, but involved preference with Victorian because that's the era of the Princeton house in which she has her shop. (11 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays.)

The caftan from Morocco is sheer white basket-weave cotton, shaped like a stoop-shouldered angel, reaching to the floor (after you slip it on over your head) and extending to the wrists, rather like an overgrown poncho.

Van Lieu's handstome is white with a bit of black embroidery down the front and dramatic black bands down the arms. It's $19.95, and one size fits anybody in the whole world. Wear it with dangle Arabic earrings (also from Van Lieu) and wear the rest as time you go to a party.

DESIGNERS AND MAKERS of EARLY AMERICAN FINE FURNITURE

Our fine pieces hand made at this delightful Country Shop, shown with coordinated upholstered furniture, lamps and accessories.

Across the hall from the caftan is a room full of nostalgic, "as-is" furniture. The pieces we saw were all in good condition so far as rugs and things are concerned, but we need to be glad back in a rush seat here and there needs repair and everything needs cleaning, taking down and re-finishing.

That, of course, is why prices are so low. That rush seat chair (shown) is $3. A Boston style rocker, it $12. Chairs generally are $2 to $5.

An old blanket chest, done in that buttermilk blue or buttermilk red made from old fabric, came from an old family in Princeton. Princeton and real-ty needs very little work at all.

The minute drop-leaf desk, circa 1924, is only two feet wide and $16. Think of the different ways it could be re-finished!

Back in the main shop, we find a heart-warming hearth-warmer. It's Edwardian, English, from the "My Fair Lady" period and it looks like a two-foot high lantern. It's a room warmer painted white, with doors opening to reveal a brassbury glass chimney. In Edwardian times, it was carried from room to room to warm hands or nose, and was particularly useful in the drafty bathrooms of the era.

A big old Hunterdon County house, now dismantled, produced the set of Empire-style mantle pieces, including two matching pieces of old dard, and a splendid clock. Marble dark grey slate and bronze have been combined with incredible invention in the Egyptian style made popular during the Napoleonic era. The clock stands a full two feet, topped by a regal Egyptian figure. She could be lost for all we know. The set, $300, is in superb condition.

Our favorite at Van Lieu's is an English bar sign with lettering painted on a three-foot wall mirror. "Ales and Stout on Draught and in bottle," it reads, with the address below: "L. M. S. House East." An outdoor sign advertises Fuller, Smith and Turner's Ales and Stout. Military accoutrements are a sort of specialty at Van Lieu's. You'll find an unissued 1902 U. S. Cavalry officer's dress helmet $27.50, a Japanese officer's dress sword from World War I and a port fire stove from the Civil War. Behind the sales room, Mrs. Van Lieu has a minute kitchen, and here is a set of glamorous but extremely efficient French cooking pans. An omelette pan (several sizes) and crepes pans are on hand, and so is an oval dish for cooking fish. That Madeleine pie is next to a pan for lady

Sit on a Tiger

The suggestion comes from the University Store via the talents and craftsmanship of Anna Wiseman. Miss Wiseman has brought forth a tiger bench designed to be sat on by anyone to whom the Princeton tiger is an important symbol. It's a wooden bench about four feet long with a tiger's head, carved in wood, as the figurehead on one end and a small tail on the other.

It's a subdued sort of burnt orange-terra cotta with appropriate black striping. Its color sufficiently subdued to harmonize with a decor which may not be quite orange and black. Price is $50, and you should allow two weeks for delivery. Plenty of time for Christmas.

fingers, a fish steamer and a Charlotte Russe cake. These are not antiques, not used, but brand new and straight off the boat.

SLING 'EM LOW

Around the Hills. Hip Huggers. Stone low-slung skirts and slacks, as clinging to the rack at Ladybug, waiting to be captured by some campus-bound mate. We found them in deep gold and navy hand-tooth wool check, matched or mated to matching jacket, poverty in horizontal stripes of navy and gold, a solid navy flannel (sued) and heathery navy wool slacks.

Ladybug is playing favorites this fall with saltie overgrown poplin fashioned into raincoats, nauti, skirts, slacks — everything except sandals, and they may catch us up on that one!

The Squall Coat, by Village, comes in orange daisies on avocado, darker daisies on olive, yellow on tomato — all sorts of water-repellent combinations.

Skirts and jackets go along under the umbrellas, and there's a round-collared suit (in the same kind of print) that suit can be quilted, if you wish.

This Friday at 9 p.m., the Josef Marx Baroque Ensemble will play seldom-heard Renaissance and early Baroque music on authentic instruments from the time. The ensemble consists of flute, alto flute, oboe, oboe d'amore, English horn, bassoon and harpsichord. Such composers as Giovanni Paolo Cima, Martin Marais, Sethus Calvisius, Luzzasco Luzzaschi and Fryderyk Bach de Selmay Salaverde will be performed. The Marx group has appeared in two previous seasons at Sundance.

This Saturday at 9 p.m., La Monte Young, contemporary composer, will play a concert of his own music. Strongly influenced by the music of Hindu music, Young's music strives to establish in the listener a meditative, meditative state of expanded consciousness.

In his later works, called "dream music," he uses the human voice with electronic amplifications at high volume to produce the desired effects. Martin Zazzali's arabesque designs will be projected during the performance. The weekend of August 26 and 27 will be the final one this season at Sundance. On Friday, August 26, Cecil Taylor and his sextet will give a concert of new jazz and on Saturday, the Manhattan Festival Ballet will give James Waring's "Phantom of the Opera."

Torn Curtain (now playing) Suspense. The great Alfred Hitchcock concentrates more on espionage and suspense than on horror and murder in this film. The cast is headed by Julie Andrews and Paul Newman.

The story itself is not to be taken seriously, but with tongue-in-cheek. It concerns an American nuclear physicist, Paul Newman, who obviously defects to East Berlin but is really a counter spy. His lovely assistant and fiancée (Miss Andrews) believes him a traitor.

The old Hitchcock verve first firmly asserts itself in a bizarre scene in which Newman and a fellow spy — an East Berlin farm woman try to polish off a Communist agent who is about to expose them. But the happy man won't die, so they stick his head in the gas oven. More easy to enjoy without wincing are some later episodes in the game of wits between Newman and Ludwig Donath, cast as an East Berlin scientist. There is a wild bus ride the type of incident on which Hitchcock's reputation for making suspense and comedy is so justifiably based.

There are good performances, fine color camerawork and musical score.

GARDEN
A Fine Madness (now playing) This free-wheeling farce will delight adults who have a secret wish to take a poke at such institutions as psychiatry, normalcy, mother, big business and the joys of matrimony.

Sean Connery is excellent as the murky, brave and irresistible poet whose struggles to live as an artist and man lead him into bizarre situations. Joanne Woodward is the dirty waitress he marries in a standstill in an altogether excellent cast.

Connery, like Alice Kennedy's performance in "The Horse's Mouth," depicts the pose of the artist on the fringes of society who nevertheless is immersed in its madness. Bent on pursuit of his art, he is pursued by bill collectors, bored housewives, professional inquisitors, and rich ladies. He suffers a creative block and winds up in a hospital.

Collect Dewhurst is the hospital psychiatrist who reaches the poet in an elemental way. John Seberg cavorts with him in the hospital's ripple bath. Patrick O'Neill and Clive Revill decide he needs brain surgery.

Connery emerges as a primitive soul running amuck in a city life. All audiences will enjoy his trials; some sequences are questionable for the younger set.

News Of The Theatres

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? now playing is a grim, sordid, emotionally powerful picture, transferring Edward Albee's jarring stage hit to the screen without less of impact.

It is far-and-away the best Elizabeth Taylor-Richard Burton achievement to date. It also establishes a new highmark in the use of foul language in film.

The picture tells the story of a night-long drinking party given by a middle-aged college professor and his frustrated wife. Their guests are a young professor who is new to the faculty, and his wife. In the course of endless drinking, joking, lying, laughing, quarreling and tell-all, the married characters become revealed.

Miss Taylor's portrayal of the blowsy, vulgar wife is the best performance of her career. Burton's version of the harassed history instructor is a textbook example. George Segal and Sandy Dennis contribute mightily in the supporting roles.

The film stands to satisfy the tastes of adults who are continually seeking the differented entertainment, starkness in drama, the thrill of illicit romance, the shockingly real language that bubbles out, etc. It keeps viewers off balance because by the time one starts to subsidize, another is brewing.

Government. This year, Committee provides $2,500 for preliminary sketch work on a new Township Hall or an addition to the present one; $45,000 for widening the Great Road between Mountain Avenue and Princeton Day School; $29,000 for work on Alexander Street and $45,110 for Open Space purchase of two more Herrontown Woods parcels.

No money has been set aside for either sewers or recreation. Mayor Schaefer said Committee had a "wait and see" attitude on both. Sewers are almost always on capital budget estimates. Committee members emphasized that the schedule can be expanded or contracted; the sale doesn't require a rigid, unalterable set of estimates.

In other business, Committee: ● Announced that the public hearing on Suburban Transit's application for fare increase will be held Tuesday, September 6, at 10 a.m. at the PUC offices, 101 Palmer Street, Newark.

● Appointed Mrs. Josephine H. Mathey, The Great Road, to the Joint Recreation Board, replacing Mrs. Richard Schuch.

● Heard Administrator Joseph R. Nini read a letter from the state Board of Health giving Princeton Hospital a clean bill of health on air pollution. Mayor Schaefer asked Mr. Nini to suggest that the state make periodic checks to see that everything remains as it should be.)

● Read a letter from the Planning Board stating that the Board, in its executive session of September 7, will take up Committee's request to consider the problem of variances for "home occupancy" professions. Availing a decision in the matter are two dentists, Dr. Stephen Bender and Dr. Jack Roemer, who want to build offices in the Township.

BURGLES STRIKE TWICE

With Little Success, Burglars were back in Princeton on Alexander Street Monday night $12 in cash but left behind 500 worth of tools which they had used to break into the house and break open the safe. In another burglary last week, $24 in coins and cigarettes was taken from a vending machine in Williamstown, Princeton University's campus.

William Geddes, vice-president and treasurer of Princeton Governer Lumber Co., discovered that his office building had been entered when he arrived for work at 7:30 a.m. At once the door was found safe he found sledge hammers, crowbars, a screwdriver, a pair of gloves and a car seat cover. The items are being held by Princeton police who are investigating the incident.

Also last week, a woman called the Newark Savings Loan, 194 Nassau Street, and reported that a car seat cover was missing from her car parked in the building. Two patrolmen searched the building but found nothing.

JAILED SIX MONTHS

For Conduct At Dance, Jerome McGowan, 246 John Street, has been sentenced to six months in the Mercer County workhouse for disorderly conduct on August 5 at a dance in the parking lot of Princeton High School.

The 18-year old McGowan was scheduled to be tried in court Monday night but failed to appear. Acting Borough Magistrate Louis Gerber issued a bench warrant for his arrest and two patrolmen brought him to court after he had been located at John and Clay Streets. Mr. Gerber handed down the sentence, effective immediately.

Traffic violators in court included Kathryn M. Soriero, 23 J. Laurel Avenue, Kingston, fined $10 for following too closely; and Carl Drayakale, 10, 1015 Princeton Pike, fined $15 for speeding.

Ticketed for failing to observe a stop sign was James E. Greene, Jr., 19, 11 Race Street. He was fined $7. Robert G. Maxwell 18, 219 Fagerstone Road, pleaded guilty to careless driving and had his license revoked for 30 days.

TWO INJURED

In Accident in Rain, A three-car accident occurred on Princeton-Kingston Road in a heavy rain Sunday night, injuring a man and his wife.

Other drivers involved in the accident were James W. Bird, 18, 249 Hamilton Avenue, and George McGowan, 42.

WHERE'S THE WATER? Repairing a dam means moving the water somewhere else and that's what they've done at the Lake Carnegie dam near the Kingston bridge. Major repairs are being made on the dam for the first time since Lake Carnegie was "built" 55 years ago.

Topics Of The Town

246 John Street. Mr. Bird was charged with driving too fast for existing conditions.

FINGER IN THE DIKE
Dam Being Repaired. No immediate structural problem exists and certainly the dam has been in no danger of bursting but the wrinkles and cracks of old age were beginning to tell, and so Princeton University has been doing major surgery on the Lake Carnegie dam near the Kingston bridge. The University owns the lake.

The lake was built in 1907 by damming the Millstone River. The dam has not been repaired in any fundamental way since that time, but after the contractors finish late this fall, the lake will have almost a new dam.

On the upstream face, engineers are driving a line of sheet piling all the way across the dam one foot from the dam face. The space between will be filled with re-inforced concrete. This piling consists of heavy disk-shaped metal sheets driven down to the bottom right through the shale, and fastened to each other by a ball-socket connection. The "disk" face is alternating directions for additional strength. All the silt will be jettied out and the concrete poured onto bed-rock. Then a sloping cap will replace the present cap at the water level.

On the downstream face, all deteriorated concrete will be chipped away and the face re-surfaced and rebuilt. On the areas where damage has been less severe, engineers will spray Gunite.

The project includes repairs to the little mill dam which will raise the level of the small mill-pond by about five feet, restoring it to the level it had about 15 years ago before major floods took their toll of the small dam.

Foster Jacobs, the University's superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, is the man in charge. Work is being done by the Thomas Crummins Contracting Company of New York, the company that raised Pennsylvania Station. In fact, the job superintendent on the dam is the same man who served as job superintendent for the Penn Station job.

"I love it out here in the country," he says. "I haven't been out in the fresh air for months!"

LICENSES SUSPENDED

How much... do you really know about Waving?

Do you know what a Custom Permanent can do for your hair... as well as what an ordinary Permanent does to the hair... the precautions that must be taken if the hair is tinted or bleached?

In 1954 Dr. Elias Pauling received the Nobel Prize in Chemistry... his research proved that human hair consisted almost entirely of Protein (95%) and not cellulose as was previously supposed.

Further research by Biochemist, Dr. Jheri Redding, based on Dr. Pauling's discovery has brought forth a new concept of restyling the hair during the actual curling and coloring process. Are you receiving the benefits of the Miracles of Modern Science... or are you just "limping" along (i.e. with limp lifeless hair) horse-and-buggy fashion?

CATACOMB IS JAMMED Turns Them Away. "Thirty to 40 kids a night are turned away because we haven't enough room," Ken McNitt, the supervisor of the Catecombs for Youth Associates, said on Tuesday. The canteen has been operating at capacity (80 to 90) ever since it opened last month in the basement of First Presbyterian Church.

The big drawing card has been the entertainment provided by a series of guitarists, jazz combos and folk singers who perform twice each evening. Most are Princeton student, drawn from the college group.

Open every Tuesday and Thursday evening, The Catecombs is "dark, downstairs, merry and just ideal," according to one student. "Some of the kids come in straight out of school and stay here all evening," Mr. McNitt says. "This makes it hard on the ones who try to get in later."

One aspect of the Catecombs is that it blends successfully two age groups, teenagers and college students. The tone of the Catecombs differs from the Catecombs of the Tomb, which operated in the same spot last spring for teenagers.
"I think the teenagers are impressed," it is less banned than has been a great support with the singers and musicians that the record-playing Tomb never achieved.

It is a beehive of ideas and planning night, Tuesday, when the committee for the weekend for student lounge held an impromptu meeting in the kitchen. A student newspaper, "advice" by the students, "no teachers," is in the works. An art exhibit went up on the walls last week.

Although the Catecombs is a place where a coke can last all evening, it is also breaking even on costs, according to Mr. McNitt. "Our real problem is coming."

POOL SPACING ALONG
Pump Turns Up. The pump for the community swimming pool, missing for two weeks on a journey east from California, arrived last week and has been readily installed. It had been mis-kept to Monticello, N. J., where they are also working building a community pool, with the help of the state, and Conn., and so it goes.

At Wednesday's Recreation Board meeting, it Donald Barry said that special coping for the diving pool and the laying of the concrete slab for the deck are the only things now holding up pool construction. He estimated that the pool builders will be cleaned up and out in two weeks. The bathhouse situation is slower.

Mr. Barry reported a pair of civilians from Wagner and Company, builders of the pool.
The company volunteered to install the markers for all eight lanes of the master pool, absorbing the $5,000 cost. The Recreation Board had originally planned to paint the markers to save money.

Painted markers, of course, would have to be re-done every year. Tile not only handsome, but obviously permanent.

Also, Wagner and Company has agreed to continue the so-called "marble dust" surface around and on the bottom of the pool, absorbing charges of about $1,500. Here again, the board had decided on paint because it was cheaper. However, Mr. Barry pointed out to Wagner that laying the concrete, waiting until it dries and then raining, would involve bringing in two crews, whereas con-

To date, he told the Board, 1,651 boys and girls had signed up for the annual summer playground programs. Last year, the total enrollment was 1, that 1966 would climb over that total.

The Galek Agency has estimated a premium of $2,180 for fire insurance on $142,000 worth of swimming pool, bath-house, offices, lockers and so on. The Board seemed to think the figure high, considering the unlikelihood of fire in such an installation, and they will invite Theodore Reed, of the Agency to explain the figure.

IT TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE: Who is the better judge of those endlessly fascinating and endlessly enigmatic creatures known as women — a man, or another woman? Not surprisingly, there is a divergence of opinion — as illustrated by those of Michele Cifelli (left) and Theo Ditmars.

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, who are the better judges of women-men or other women? Where asked: Nassau Street.

Mrs. Sharon Harsenki, Trenton, research assistant for engineer at Dodo, Inc., State Road: Men will give more favorable judgements but women will probably be more honest. They're cattier.

Miss Terry Rogers, 62 Wiggins Street, graduate student, economics: I think that women are better judges of other women because from introspection they have a better idea of what the real motivations are for the various actions other women.

Patrick Anselmo, Stockton, architect: I think women. They certainly have a better background for it.

Mrs. Maryann Dunkak, Route 27, housewife: Other women. They are usually more critical than men are. Men just take one look at a woman and form an opinion. Women tear them apart.

dent, history. Probably women. They can be more objective about it. They have less stake in the matter.

Miss Kathy Rosenberg, Detroit, student, University of Michigan: Women look at other women with the idea of finding all the fault they can. They try to prove to themselves they're better. They have a very subjective viewpoint. One tries to outdo the other — that's what it all amounts to. Men look at a woman objectively.

Miss Jean Rodgers, Levittown, Pa., secretary, Princeton University: Men, because they have more of an opinion of women than other women do, because they are attracted to women. They think about them more.

Miss Jackie Hunt, Hopewell, research assistant, Princeton University: Other women. They can understand by knowing themselves, by projecting.

Miss Peggy Mather, 522 Prospect Avenue, sales clerk, The Fabric Center: Although women aren't as objective about other women as men are, their criticisms seem to be more valid. Actually, I think women are understood by both men and women.

Mrs. Christine Jones, Skillman, student, Douglass College: I think men are probably less prejudiced on the subject. Women compete with each other more.

Mrs. Edward Boleky, 41 Spring Street, teacher, Women, I think, because they actually know the way the female mind works. Just being around their own mother and other sisters from childhood they learn to understand other women.

Dr. John Gammon, 13 Bank Street, resident of England, attending Princeton University's geological department on a fellowship: Other women. A woman knows what goes on in another woman's mind. I don't think a man can ever hope to understand that.

Miss Anne Brener, Route 27, student, Douglass College: Men have to be. There's a much more objective viewpoint. Women cannot see each other very clearly. They're looking through green eyes, too often.

Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Littlebrook Road, housewife: It depends. I think there are some women who are as intuitive as women. Women judge other women. I think the element of competition comes up with women judging other women. They might not be quite as objective as they think they are.

Miss Theresa Chidzik, Trenton, secretary, Kai Roderman, 221 Nassau Street: Probably other women. Women just understand each other better. A man doesn't think like a woman.

Miss Linda Newret, student, Westminster Choir College: I say men, because I think men are more objective when it comes to viewing women. Women speak about other women they are already prejudiced for or against a particular person. Therefore they can't speak objectively.

Gene Frankel, graduate stu-

Miss Jerri Bernard, Hightstown, clerk, University Store: Men take an overall, general view, they either like or dislike a woman. Women tend to judge other women on trivial things. They are more picky. Women might say, 'I like her but she gossip too much, or she doesn't keep a clean house.'

Miss Theo Ditmars, Pennington, Eadiott Junior College: Other women. They look at women more critically, their clothes, their appearance, and since they are women themselves, they understand what goes on inside a woman's mind.

Miss Michele Cifelli, Trenton, student: Pd say men. They're more interested in women. They think about them more.

fills a lot of piggy banks

True—but putting more than change into piggy banks at home is the wrong way for either young or old to save.

Why?

Well, anyone can walk away with a piggy bank, or break it open or jiggle the coins back out.

The smart way to save is the way the hundreds of other savers at the Princeton Bank do their saving. Right now, in a regular savings account where it is well protected against theft, temptation and economic distress.

Putting your spare cash into a personal savings account at the Princeton Bank does one other thing that a piggy bank can't — it pays you regular interest on the pennies and dollars you have on deposit.

Yes, $53,836,154.12 fills a lot of piggy banks — we keep it for our customers in our solid vaults. Bring in your bulging piggy bank today and empty it into a regular, interest paying personal savings account regardless of your age.

technical features when something more mundane would do. That, it is "over-engineered."

The Publisher of Car and Driver magazine recently summed up the case for the 230S:

"It has more than enough brakes for its potential speed. It has the capacity to go around a corner much, much faster than anybody's ever going to go. It rides very well. The seats are designed to sustain loads and provide comfort over a longer period of time than anyone is ever going to sit in them. It's a 100 percent kind of automobile."

To those who view a car as a machine and not an ingeneer, this "over-engineering" makes eminent good sense. And makes the 230S well worth its $4785 price. Some reasons for that price—and some answers to the charge of "over-engineering":

"Everybody in America is going fast today, but how many of us can stop?" —David E. Davis Jr.

The 230S can stop—and stop and stop and stop. Two strong reasons: a 9.9-inch disc brake on each front wheel.

Designed for 150-mph racing cars, disc brakes banish the threat of fade in repeated hard use. The threat of brake "lock-up" is vastly reduced. Water and dust have little effect.

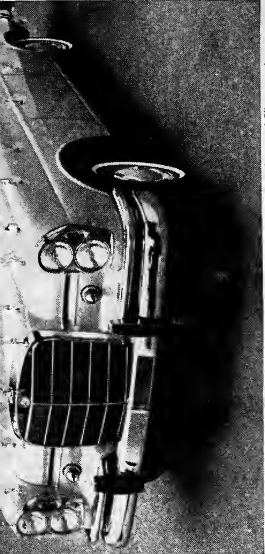

Extra benefits at no extra cost: A power assist that takes the work out of braking, and dual circuit brake lines that remove the possibility of total brake failure.

"It will go down a nasty little one-lane country road just as well as it goes down the New York Thruway"

—Automotive editor

It has to. Mercedes-Benz cars are sold in 156 countries where nasty little one-lane country roads are often the only roads. A spongy "bowl-leaved" ride won't do in Afghanistan or Iceland. Mercedes-Benz engineers had to come up with something better.

Their solution, borrowed from racing experience: a fully independent, rear swing axle suspension.

The Mercedes-Benz 230S poses the question—Is there such a thing as too much car for the money? Clip coupon for answers.

You can lean the 230S over a railway crossing and it won't still be bouncing half a mile down the road. You can travel the cork-screw mountain passes and enjoy the ride. If so inclined, you could smoothly sweep around a racing circuit—without as much as pumping up the tires beforehand.

Another reason for the roadability in every 230S: standard equipment in every 230S includes heavy-duty shock absorbers, heavy-duty coil springs, front anti-sway bar, hydro-pneumatic load leveler at the rear axle, and 4-ply, super-premium grade tires. There's no extra charge for a 4-speed floor shift, either.

No gasping or guzzling

Those big V-8s can cruise at 90 mph—at 8 miles per gallon or so. Tiny engines sip fuel, but at 65 mph they're guzzling for breath.

The 230S gives you the best of both: Its 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine could run at a restful 90 mph for hours, yet doesn't guzzle gas in normal driving.

This design was originally intended for the brutal stresses of racing. The engine is built up to near racing tolerances—as fine as .019 of a millimeter for bearings.

And it's built on a steel-space assembly line, where sample engine blocks are stretched away at random, chopped in half, and every dimension scientifically measured.

"They don't build them like they used to"

—modern American lament
Mercedes-Benz presents radiator medallions to owners whose clocks (60,000, 250,000, and over 300,000 miles). The demand is steady.

A contributing factor: the 230S body is a rigid steel shell, welded at 10,000 points. This "unit" method of construction makes obsolete the separate frame and body type, with its nuts and bolts and rattles.

Sheet metal on many body panels measures a millimeter thick (pound your fist on the 230S roof; you don't feel a wobble, you hear a "thunk").

The 230S ranks as one of the world's sturdyest 4-wheeled machines, because Mercedes-Benz ranks as one of the world's subcompact car builders.

The company has never stopped building them like they used to.

"A car is not a rolling boudoir, a rocket ship or an oak-paneled library —so it shouldn't look like one!"

—Industrial designer

The 230S seats five in considerable comfort. It does not lure you with stereo tape players

Engineered for safety

The 230S imparts a feeling of reassurance; it puts the driver and his passengers at ease. It is engineered to help you avoid trouble, and it is engineered for maximum protection if trouble should occur.

Front and rear body sections are designed to yield on violent impact, to absorb shock before it can hit the passenger area. Some amazing tests have shown that in roll-over crashes at 65 mph, the roof stayed intact. Inside, you will find one careless or shabby touch. The rearview mirror is spring-mounted to snap off if struck, for example. The steering wheel hub looks like a doughnut; it is padded, not pointed.

Close to 5,000,000 people are disabled, one writer reports, by accidents that occur in the home. And the chief cause of these accidents is not momentary carelessness, but rather a lack of planning for household safety. Does that open into hallways, bad lighting, stairs too steep or too shallow, a telephone so placed that family members must run to catch it before it slips ringing, outdoors steps that don't drain and do freeze in winter, lack of rail or sand on icy driveways and porches. There are just a few of the many hazards that make a home the setting for accidents. Before an accident in your home swells the national statistics, check it out for potential danger spots. Your best interest is always our concern.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK — III
This is the third in a series of four articles on Princeton's football prospects for 1966.

Tentative Lineups. Of the 22 starting positions on the two platoons that will form Princeton's 1966 football team, it will be filled by players who have not previously ranked first on the depth chart. Eight players who held that status last fall will return, but the selection by graduation was particularly heavy on the offensive unit: only two of the 11 men who began the game when the Tigers received the kickoff are varsity holdovers.

The rebuilding task is accordingly one of major proportions. Complicating the picture, of course, is the fact that the upcoming schedule has little league champion Dartmouth Indians all but dancing in anticipation in mid-August.

A defense can be fashioned somewhat more quickly than an offense, simply because it is easier to groom up the other last year. Holdovers, Charlie Wray's attack by knocking his (bawled pronounced "Babbe") players down there it is to go. 137 and Steve Pierre, 6-4, polish your own necessarily 197, will bolster these positions. Paul Savidge and Stu Malerewski, for example, were functioning two-way players, but they saw more action in trying to get the ball away from the opposition than they did in helping the Tigers to advance it. Ron Landeck was a defensive standout for two seasons before he put in a record-breaking year at fullback, had another relatively satisfactory player been available for last season last year, Landeck might have played three seasons in the defensive secondary because of his toughness and sure tackling.

So, Dick Colman and his associates with Rutgers graduate Art Robinson replacing Bob Ciesla, now at Dartmouth, as end, will be seen at Blairtown to put an offensive unit together almost from scratch. The only holdover players who started on the Blauvelt last November are Fred Pete Zeitoff and wing-back John Bowers.

On defense, the five-man line has a gap only at right tackle, but both linebackers have graduated as has one of the halfbacks. If quality remains, quality was truly lost in the departure of Savidge, Malerewski and Clint Johnson.

by a letterman as a sophomore, will pair with classmate Bob Hauseler, 6-0, 210. They are the likely starters after considerable reserve action last fall.

● Guards: Lynn Brehm, 6-1, 193, a two-year letterman, may be joined on offense by Ron Marvin, a promising junior who had a good freshman year but sat out last season with a fractured ankle. Defensively, junior Craig Stone is counted on as the reserve.

"That we have a freshman who can match Gogo kick for kick from 35 yards out."
A native of Ecuador, where he learned the soccer-style shot, Garcia will carry Princeton's hopes in this department for the next three years. To what extent the pressure of replacing an established star such as Gogolak will affect Garcia, only time will tell. It was far simpler for Gogolak—the Tigers had never had one like him before, and every field goal he booted was silver gravy.

NAVY WINS LACROSSE
Named Summer Champion, The Navy team in the Summer Lacrosse League was named following a storm-shortened round-robin Thursday at Marquand Park.
In abbreviated action, Navy topped Blue, 3-2, and Red, 2-1. In other games, Red and Blue both played scoreless ties with Green.

For Navy, Bob Ridolfi, Rich Stewart and Carl Burns scored in the victory over Blue.

VALUABLE VETERAN: Lee Hitchner, 225-lb. guard, returns for his junior year backed with a full season of experience. A starter in every game as a sophomore, he is considered by the coaching staff to have "the strength, speed and desire to make him an outstanding player."

Sports in Princeton

placement for All-American Stan Maliszewski, like Maliszewski (now with the Baltimore Colts), he can go both ways.

Lee Hitchner, 6-2, 220, is a fixture as a defensive guard, while classmate Jim Kokolski, 6-0, 190, will also be in the fight for regular action. Having lost Maliszewski, Paul Saviano and Dick Rogers, all three All-Ivy, Dick Colman has the problem of shoring up the guard positions as his biggest headache this season.

• Center: Carl Behnke, listed above as a defensive tackle candidate, may be assigned this position based on previous experience. However, if Junior Bob Ehret, 5-11, 210, can handle the job, with sophomore Bob Silivski, 6-2, 240, as his understudy Behnke may play permanently as a tackle.

• Offensive Backs: Senior John Bowers, 6-0, 190, is the only holdover ball carrier from last year's starting backfield and is sure to repeat as a regular. There's a long list of currently unknown operatives behind him: Junior Tom Riejas and a handful of sophomores of whom 5-11, 180-lb. Jim Kokolski is the pick.

When Bob Redell was hurt in the Harvard game last fall, Chuck Peters and Tad Howard, now seniors, alternated as his replacement, with Peters the choice between the two. They are rated a superior blocker, might work his way into the starting assignment but under any circumstances, inexperience at the field general's slot looms large.

A sophomore might also prove to be the starting full-back, because Don Hazen, 6-0, 195, showed much promise as a freshman and would have only senior Bill Berkeley to beat out if Ron Grossman, another senior, is used on defense. Berkeley, one of the best punters ever to attend Princeton, has been used as a ball carrier but may not see heavy duty on the theory that an injury to him would drastically weaken the Tigers' kicking game.

At tailback, it will likely be Junior Bob Weber, 6-2, 181, an all-around athlete who appears ready to beat out senior Dave Martin. Although he averaged 5.2 yards on 49 carries last year, Martin (6-1, 200) has not shown adequate passing ability and doesn't seem to be the tailback who will cut the mustard for the Tigers.

Possibly a year away but possessed of unusual promise is sophomore Dick Bracken, at 6-1, 210 pounds the biggest player the Tigers have ever had at the vital position. Not since Royce Flippin played a decade ago has Princeton started a sophomore tailback at the outset of the season. Jack Sullivan and Tom Scott became regulars in their first year on the varsity when players above them were injured. Weber will have to show real ability to keep Bracken out of the starting job.

• Defensive Backs: Letterman Harvard Gibson, 5-11, 185; Doug James, 6-0, 170; and All-Ivy Marty Eichelberger, 5-10, 176, give the Tigers speed and experience in the deep secondary. Junior Dick Sherlock, 6-0, 193, may round out this quartet, with classmate Deane Buchanan, 5-11, 180, and Bruce Wayne, 6-0, 185, leading the large group of reserve possibilities.

• Specialist: It was just after Charlie Gogolak had booted five perfect placekicks, two of them field goals, against Colgate that Hal Lahar, the visitors' coach, remarked contentedly that he was happy to have seen the last of him. "I better tell you, Hal," said Gogolak in the post-game session, whose goals were credited to Sam Stewart and Bob Weber. In the Navy-led game, Burns and Dave Leete scored for the victors and Bryce Chase lost.

In a post-season game played Sunday at Elizabeth, an all-star team from Princeton lost to its counterpart from that city, 14 to 5. The victors led, 6-1, at the half and were never seriously threatened. Dave Leete and Bryce Chase each scored twice for Princeton, John Pettit making the other goal.

RCA "B" DROPS "A"
 In Business Softball, in a battle of division leaders last week in the Princeton Business Softball League, RCA B handed RCA A its third straight defeat, 5-3 to clinch the Eastern Division title and drop RCA A into second place in the Western Division for the first time this year.

Although the offense mounted a feint attack in the game, RCA B's defensive work made the difference. Bob and Mel Sanders combined for six assists and ten putouts to keep the infield tight behind winning Pitcher Tom Ward.

Accelerator, who entered last week's play in a tie for first in the Western Division, took sole possession of that spot by edging by Shell, 2-0. Errorless ball and the shut-out pitching of Jack Barlow made the two runs stand up throughout the game.

Accelerator picked up his first run in the opening inning as Joe Francipanni, who reached base on a single, scored on a ground out. In the third Larry Yonch led off with a single, took second on a fly ball and scored on a single by Lee Leach. The hits were the only ones of the night for Accelerator.

In other league play, ETS unloaded 15 hits to bomb Opinion Research Corporation, 10-1, and remain in the runner-up spot in Eastern Division. Leading the way were Pat O'Donnell, who went 3-for-3, Bob Dorman, who collected two hits in as many at-bats, and Paul Harmon who hit a home run and singled. Jack Dilworth was the winning pitcher.

Columbian Carbon slid by Hopewell TV, 7-6, on the strength of Jim Wiedenhafer's 4-for-4 at the plate, including a home run. Western Electric took advantage of nine RCA Astro errors to triumph, 8-1. Bill DeHaven got credit for the victory. He was supported by a home run by Ed Paulsen and Roger Cole's two doubles. McGraw-Hill had little trouble with American Cyanamid, winning 8-2.

ETS SCORES SWEET
 In Girls' Softball Series, Educational Testing Service won the second game of a best-of-three playoff series last week to make a clean sweep of the championship in the Princeton Research Girls' Softball League. ETS gained the victory by coming from behind to up-end Princeton Hospital, 7-4.

Carol Osborn teamed up with Dottie Moore to play the key hits in the contest. She hit two triples, the first when ETS trailed 4-1, and Dottie allowed six hits to gain the decision. The Hospital jumped to a 2-1 lead in the first and a 4-1 lead after three-and-a-half innings.

In the bottom half of the fourth, ETS tied the score with three runs as Carol Osborn hit a two-run triple. In the sixth she hit her second triple of the night to give the winners of the margin they needed. ETS finished with six hits.

Facing the losers were Sun Goodwin and Paulette Kreter.

with each two RBIs. Kathy Coleman, who entered the game in the bottom half of the fourth, was credited with two RBIs.

KRAFT, LAPIDUS WIN
 In Trenton Tennis Tournaments, Ken Kraft and Mary Lapidus were victors in the Trenton City Junior Tennis Championships held last week at Cadwellader Park. The tournament was sanctioned by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Ken Kraft defeated Dennis Ferguson of Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-4, in the finals of the boys' 16-and-under division to take that singles title. Mary Lapidus scored a 6-4, 6-3 win over Lindsay Hicks of Princeton to gain her title. Lindsay had ousted Eric Dampel of Princeton in the semi-finals.

In the boys' 12-and-under category, Robbie Kraft finished runner-up to Richard Gember of Philadelphia. Terry Blake also brought home a runner-up trophy in the girls' 12-and-under competition.

Other Princetonians who participated were John O'Donoghue, Duncas Brown, Mark Cleary, Chip Jones, Robbie Sonnenschein, Fred Erdman, Peter Miller, Richard Magee, Tom Worthington, Peter Worthington, Dick Kendall, Alex Siano, Dave Hicks, Ted Hicks, Terry Sheehan, Mal Alexander and Chris Clark.

YMCA HOLDS SWIM MEET
 Means Stars, Drew Mearns took three individual firsts and participated on the victorious 500-yard relay team to earn top honors in the YMCA-sponsored Junior Swim Meet. The event was run in conjunction with the junior high recreation club swim at Princeton University's Dillon Pool.

News Of The CHURCHES

PLAN NEW BUILDING
For Hillsborough Church. Construction begins this fall on a $70,000 Christian education building for Hillsborough Presbyterian Church, Route 206. The building is the first phase in long-range plans encompassing a new church sanctuary to replace the present "Log Cabin Chapel" and a manse. Elder Charles Haug is chairman of the building committee and Raymond Eberhardt heads the grounds committee. Arthur Geratt Jr. led the recently-completed fund drive. Other key figures in the project are the Rev. Edward O. Poole, Pastor; Mary Lee, fund campaign treasurer; Elder J. W. Milroy and Mrs. Robert Dietert, community relations; Leo H. Mahony and Eugene F. Connor of Princeton are the architects.

The new structure will house all church school activities and is designed to meet the church's requirements for social functions. It will be a modern, one-story building of wood and glass.

Five-and-a-half years ago there was no Hillsborough Presbyterian Church. In February 1961, the Rev. Orson C. Hopper was appointed organizing pastor at his request by the National Mission Board of the United Presbyterian Church. He called on 420 families in the Belle Mead-South Somerville area, finding 109 interested in a new church. Dr. Donald M. Meisel of First Presbyterian Church, Princeton, helped guide the planning from his post on the National Mission Board. The young congregation bought eight acres on Route 206, holding the first services in a large cabin on the land on Palm Sunday, 1962.

Hard work and steady growth has characterized the church since its beginning. Membership has doubled. Dr. Hopper retired in 1964, age 75, and the Rev. Mr. Poole succeeded him.

It is also characteristic that the first new building should be planned for Christian education. As Dr. Hopper said on retirement, "This is a congregation with no weddings, no funerals but plenty of baptisms."

PASTORS CHANGE
For Summer Services, the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton, pastor

Festival at Griggstown

The annual Harvest Home festival of Griggstown Reformed Church will be held from 5 to 10 p.m. this Saturday on the church grounds.

There will be food stands, games, handwork and harvest tables, as well as a concert by the Blawenburg Band.

at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, will conduct union services of the three Presbyterian churches of Princeton this Sunday. Worship will be held at 8:30 and 10 a.m. at Witherspoon Church. University Chapel services will be led by David H. Smith, chapel assistant. The Rev. M. L. Rogers will preach at Trinity Episcopal Church, Rocky Hill.

The Rev. E. Rugby Averb is scheduled to conduct worship in All Saints' Chapel at 7:30, 9 and 11 a.m. Trinity Church is closed during August. Title of the Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson's sermon at 10 a.m. this Sunday is "The Spirit and the Word."

SPACE IS LIMITED

For Holy Day Services. Admission to the Roth Hashonah services on September 15 and at the Princeton Jewish Center will be by tickets only this year, because of the limited capacity of the building. Open to members and non-members alike, the Holy Day services are free to all. Tickets will be sent automatically to members of the Jewish Center, but non-members are asked to apply for tickets at the center after September 5.

TO HOLD SUMMER SCHOOL
For Hopewell Churches. Hopewell Community Vacation Church School opens on Monday at Calvary Baptist Church. Classes will be held for one week. Enrollment forms are available at the churches.

Mearns finished first in the 56-yard breaststroke and backstroke for 13-15 year-olds and also won the 10-12 year-old diving. Ken Price took first in the breaststroke and backstroke in the 10-12 year-old class. Craig Kline won the 10-12 freestyle and the 200-year relay to victory.

Other winners included Larry Sprall in the 13-15 freestyle. Darryl Boone in the 13-15 diving and Vincent Boone in the underwater for distance (75 yards).

CHAMPS BEAT ALL-STARS
In YMCA Junior League. Princeton Water Company, which completed the regular season with a 12-1 record, defeated an all-star team from the rest of the league last week by an 8-2 score. Water Company exploded for six runs in the first inning and then coasted to victory behind the pitching of Wayne Conover and Charles Smith.

Supplying the offensive punch for the winners were Robert Gregg and George Lusk. Gary Toth led the All-Stars with two of the team's three hits. Bill Brooks absorbed the loss.

Only a Saab can do things other cars wouldn't dare do.

On any road, in any weather, SAAB is a more daring car to drive because SAAB has front wheel drive. The fantastic traction of front wheel drive lets SAAB hold on to the road for dear life. (Your dear life.)

Other cars don't give you, even as options, all the safety features that are standard in SAAB. For example, roll-bar construction, collapsible steering column, three separate braking systems.

On country roads and on super-highways, SAAB is a safe and daring car. (And SAAB also dares those so-called economy cars to match its low operating cost.) SAAB

EVERYONE LOVES THIS HOUSE

Its neighbors speak fondly of it.
People remember it well after it disappears down its street and an occasional "house out" will go out of his way just to ride by it. And it's not a lush contemporary or a perfectly proportioned colonial.
In fact it's not architecturally distinguished at all and really quite unobtrusive. There's just something about the way it's settled in amongst its trees behind the high school of Waterloo.
Something about its color too, a sunny weathered grey, all at once as though it had been mellowed by wet spray. It's all on one floor and there's a handsome living room with a fireplace and see of wall glass, separate dining room, good kitchen, study, 1 bedroom and 2 1/2 baths. Lovely, secluded grounds, prime Western location. Under $50's.
